

Champion racehorses are the heroes of South African racing and the country's racing industry is offering special prize money totalling R600 000 to the owner and trainer of the horse emerging as the most successful in the five categories making up the new South African All Stars Series being staged this season.

The Five categories are as follows:

1. Two-Year-Olds - The SA Juvenile Championship and The SA Debutante Series
2. Three-Year-Olds - The SA Triple Crown and The SA Triple Tiara
3. Sprinters - The SA Sprint Championship
4. Milers - The SA Golden Mile Series and The SA Ladies Mile Series
5. Horses racing in the other races - The SA Champion of Champion Series

The Turfstar competition is staged by Gold Circle and Phumelela and points are being allocated to the horses filling the first five places in the qualifying categories on the basis of 12 points for finishing first, six for second, four for third, two for fourth and one point for fifth. At the end of the season, the owners whose horses have amassed the most number of points will receive R100 000 and the horse's trainer R20 000.
